FROM: Dr. Martha D. Saunders, President

SUBJECT: Employee Code of Conduct

Responsible Office: Human Resources

I. Policy Statement

A. The University of West Florida encourages its Employees to engage in activities supporting their professional growth, creating new knowledge and ideas, and furthering the University’s mission of excellence in teaching, research, and service. University Employees’ primary professional obligation, however, is to act in the best interest of the University and to maintain the highest ethical and professional standards. Accordingly, this Policy establishes standards and requirements to protect the University’s financial well-being, reputation, and legal obligations and provides a system for identifying, reporting, and managing real or apparent conflicts.

B. The policies and requirements of Chapter 112, Part III, Florida Statutes, “Code of Ethics for Public Officers and Employees,” shall apply to all UWF employees whether or not they are members of a bargaining unit, and includes the following prohibited actions or conduct:

1. Solicitation and Acceptance of Gifts. University employees may not solicit or accept anything of value, such as a gift, loan, reward, promise of future employment, favor or service, that is based on an understanding, or creates a reasonable perception, that their vote, official action, or judgment would be influenced by such gift. Invitations to attend complimentary conferences or events sent by vendors and lobbyists directly to employees are considered personal gifts to the employee under state statute. Employees receiving such an invitation should direct the vendor or lobbyist to submit the invitation to an appropriate designated University official in your area, so that it is clear the invitation is made to the University and not the employee. The University official can then select, or designate a member of management to select, which employee(s) could attend the complimentary conference or event.

2. Any gift from a political committee.

3. Anything of value from a lobbyist or vendor

C. Unauthorized compensation. University employees, their spouses and minor

- F. An employee may accept an honorarium and related travel expenses for themselves and their spouse if the amount is reasonable and consistent with fair market value for time spent in preparation for the event. A Reporting Individual or procurement employee is prohibited from soliciting an honorarium, which is related to their public office or duties, or knowingly accepting an honorarium from a political committee, a lobbyist, or a vendor doing business with the University. A Reporting Individual who receives payment or provision of expenses related to any honorarium event from a person who is prohibited in the paragraph above, will need to disclose the particulars in their annual statement of reporting. The annual statement of a procurement employee must be filed with the Florida Commission on Ethics. For purposes of this Policy an Honorarium is a payment of money or anything of value to an employee for:
  - 1. A speech, address, oration, or other oral presentation by the reporting individual or procurement employee, regardless of whether presented in person, recorded, or broadcast over the media.

- G. Solicitation or Acceptance of Honoraria. University employees are prohibited from soliciting honorariums and travel expenses for themselves and their spouse. The University may accept an honorarium on behalf of an employee for travel expenses and lodging associated with an event.
- H. Doing Business with One’s Agency. University employees acting in their official capacity are prohibited from directly or indirectly purchasing, renting, or leasing any realty, goods, or services for the University from a business entity in which the employees or their spouses or children serve as an officer, partner, director, or proprietor, or own more than a 5% interest. Employees, acting in their private capacity, are also prohibited from renting, leasing, or selling any realty, goods, or services to the University.
